ABOUT ELECTRONIC MONITORING AS PART OF YOUR SENTENCE/ORDER

The Court or the New Zealand Parole Board has imposed electronic monitoring as part of your sentence/order. This requires you to wear a tracker on your ankle 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. A monitoring unit will be placed at your home address.

Your Probation Officer will visit you to complete a full sentence/order induction which will explain the details of your sentence/order and provide you with further information.

The conditions of your sentence/order will determine when you MUST remain at your home address. If you require an absence to leave your address during your curfew, you MUST speak with your Probation Officer and get this approved.

CHARGING YOUR TRACKER

You need to charge your GPS tracker for two (2) hours every day.

If you have a GPS tracker you will be required to charge this for 2 hours every day. The cordless charger enables you to charge your tracker without being tethered to a power socket and will allow you to carry out most normal activities in your home environment while charging.

To charge your tracker unplug the cordless charger from the power lead and attach it to the base of the tracker.

HOW LONG DOES IT TAKE TO FULLY CHARGE?

To fully charge a low tracker battery will take approximately 2 hours. The “Power” light on the charger turns from red to green when the battery is fully charged. The tracker vibrates when being connected to, and disconnected from, the charger. The tracker will also vibrate when the tracker’s battery levels are low indicating that you need to immediately charge your tracker.

WHAT IF THE TRACKER OR MONITORING UNIT IS DAMAGED?

Any damage must be immediately reported to your Probation Officer. You must provide all information about how the unit got damaged. If the damage is intentional, you will be pursued through the courts for reparation.

TAKING CARE OF YOUR ELECTRONIC MONITORING EQUIPMENT:

Having a shower or a bath while wearing your tracker is OK.

DO NOT:

- have the cordless battery attached to the tracker when bathing or showering
- let the cordless charger get wet (GPS only)
- move the monitoring unit
