Thanks Christine. On this basis we will respond to Serbia's TPN sent on behalf of the five successor states, attaching the Public Trust's letter.

Thanks Sharon.

I've read the article Laura sent through and it appears that it was Macedonia who sought permission to move the chancery in Australia, not the "successor states of Yugoslavia" – which is what we are dealing with.

I've also done a quick google search myself and it says:

Succession, 2006–present

In June 2006, Montenegro became an independent nation after the results of a May 2006 referendum, therefore rendering Serbia and Montenegro no longer existent. After Montenegro's independence, Serbia became the legal successor of Serbia and Montenegro, while Montenegro re-applied for membership in international organisations. In February 2008, the Republic of Kosovo declared independence from Serbia, leading to an ongoing dispute on whether Kosovo is a legally recognised state. Kosovo is not a member of the United Nations, but 109 states, including the United States and various members of the European Union, have recognised Kosovo as an independent nation.

David/Michelle/Christine – I see that none of you are at work today. Can somebody in LGL pls confirm this point so that we can send the Public Trust's letter to the successor states of Yugoslavia? The original TPN was received in late October (copy attached for ease of reference), so we are keen to reply before the end of the year, if possible.

Llewellyn – copying you in,

Looks like the TPN came from Slovenia.

Kia ora Shee-Jeong,

Christine is just back in the office I believe. so she may have additional input into this question.
s6(a) which seems like a good idea.

I am now back in APD, and so I have CCed in Jocelyn and Susannah to monitor this for EUR (as Philip, who now covers ROM, is away).

Hi Sharon and Christine

Christine –
s6(a) Reading through the email below, it seems to me that that is the first question we need to be able to answer.

s6(a) Another, and s6(a) A quick google search (here) indicates that last year assets were sold off (some given to FYROM) s6(a)

Thanks,

Hi Christine,

Just following up the email I sent you about this a few weeks ago –

s6(a)

Laura - We have received the attached TPN regarding the assets of the former Yugoslav Embassy here in Wellington.

s6(a)

I've also attached our draft reply if you are able to review and let me know if you have any comments (but the first question is the priority. If you don't have time to review, just let me know).

Thanks,
Sharon
